

ABSTRACT

An elongated hollow member (160), as shown in Figure 1, with longitudinally disposed external vane(s) (275A-B) for securing an offshore structure to the seafloor. The external vanes help maintain the heading and bearing of the anchor during the installation process, and may also enhance the pile anchor's holding capacity. '